

Please do not do anything to preempt the Indiana Telephone Privacy law. I am afraid that if you preempt the Indiana Telephone Privacy law, I (a senior citizen who always votes) will receive unwanted calls from companies that I have previously done business with such as AT&T and everybody else who considers me to be an "existing customer."

Again, please do not implement any proposal that would lessen or preempt the Indiana Telephone Privacy law. The Indiana Attorney General enforces this law fairly and vigorously. It works great. We are no longer interpreted by these unwanted telephone calls during our evening meal. This Indiana law has been very effective as we used to be interpreted almost every evening, and now it is very rare to be interpreted by an unwanted telephone call. Further the Indiana law should be a benefit to the telephone marketers as I never found anything I wanted being sold (pushed) by telephone marketers, thus never bought anything from them, and the law will now save them the unnecessary expense of calling me.

Respectfully,

James E. Miner
